Art Unit: 1644

1. Claims 10-18 are pending.
2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in United States before the invention by the applicant for patent (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 10-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 102(e) as being anticipated by U. S. Patent No. 6,028,099 (A), as evidenced by the Cole Eye Institute.

The '099 patent teaches treating AMD, a disease known to cause macular edema, as evidenced by the Cole Eye Institute, with a protein tyrosine kinase inhibitor in addition to SMS 201-995, octreotide, a long lasting somatostatin analog that binds to a sst<sub>2</sub> receptor, wherein said formulations are given topically, in the form of eye drops or subcutaneously (see columns 5-9 in particular).

The prior art teachings anticipate the claimed invention.

4. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

5. Claim 18 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

Art Unit: 1644

Claim 18 is drawn to administering octreotide to the eye in the form of an ophthalmic liquid preparation.

The specification provides no working demonstrating topical eye administration works in treating diabetic retinopathy. The state of the art, US Patent 6,669,950, teaches a problem with periocular administration of drugs to treat macular degeneration or other posterior eye ailments usually results in the drug being quickly washed out and depleted from the eye via periocular vasculature and soft tissue, into the general circulation. The specification provides no guidance how one of skill in the art would overcome the problems associated topical eye administration of octreotide to treat diabetic retinopathy and as such it would be unpredictable and require an undue amount of experimentation to practice applicant's invention.

6. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

7. Claims 10-17 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 2-7, 9-14 and 22-23 of copending Application No. 09/519,647. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because both applications claims recite treating AMD with octreotide.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.
